A 9 CREDIT PROGRAM

AUTISM SPECTRUM ENDORSEMENT

Dalton State College's 9-credit endorsement is an Autism Education Endorsement Program offered at one of the nation's top value colleges. This credential can be earned by undergraduate teacher candidates seeking teaching induction certification and certified professionals who wish to gain knowledge in the area of teaching students with Autism Spectrum Disorders and are adding to existing teaching certifications. Other professionals from related fields who have specific interest in serving students with Autism Spectrum Disorders may also enroll in these classes. There's no better place to enhance your education career outside of engaging with our world-class faculty.

A CLOSER LOOK

A significant need exists for well trained professionals holding various Level I and Level II certificates of professional competence (including but not limited to regular and special education teachers, school psychologists, principals, guidance counselors, speech and language clinicians, occupational and physical therapists, reading specialists and home and school visitors) to serve students with Autism and related Autism Spectrum Disorders. The ASD endorsement is designed to demonstrate that candidates have completed a competency-based sequence of courses totaling 9 credit hours at a baccalaureate degree level and successfully completed an endorsement program.
